

The Mediwatch serves three functions:

1. It is an alarm watch
2. It is a pillbox
3. It is a medical alert bracelet including a list of medications taken and important medical information about the wearer of the watch. Medical personnel and first responders will be alerted to look for the MEDIWATCH which will provide them with important medical information immediately.

The alarms will be programmed for three settings.

1. Ringing or buzzing
2. Voice Message
3. Vibration – no sound

The back of the watch will be engraved with important medical information Pertaining to the wearer of the watch, thus serving as a Medical Alert Bracelet also.

CLAIMS:

1. A watch with a pillbox comprising:
 - a watch face having a time indicating means
 - a lid adjacent the watch face
 - a pillbox beneath the lid comprising a plurality of compartments of medication:

means for opening the watch face for providing access to said compartment;

one or more removable discs arranged inside said lid and being provided with information about the medications therein;

a plurality of alarm setting means, each corresponding to one of said compartments, for separately setting an alarm for each compartment informing the user of the time to take medication;

means for providing an alarm at the time set by the alarm setting means and a back provided with permanently engraved medical information of the user.

2. The watch of claims 1. Wherein the means for opening the watch face comprises a hinge lock.
3. The watch of claims 1, wherein the number of compartments is one of three or four.
4. The watch of claims 1, wherein the alarm is one of ringing, a voice message or vibration.
5. The watch of claims 1, wherein the watch comprises a pocket watch

6. The watch of claims 1, wherein the watch comprises a pocket watch
7. The watch of claims 1, wherein the watch comprises a chain for wearing on the neck of the user.
8. The watch of claims 1 wherein the comprises a bracelet with additional medication storage compartments therein.